Every German company is required to comply with legal regulations on occupational safety, which are reflected, for example, in the Workplace Ordinance (ArbStättV), the Accident Prevention Regulations (UVV), the Hazardous Substances Ordinance (GefStoffV), and environmental regulations.

In addition to ensuring workplace safety, your declaration of safety also serves to protect our employees, the carrier, and the environment from harmful effects when handling hazardous substances. It also serves to protect you against claims for recourse.

When returning products to us, please send them in a conventionally cleaned condition (harmless to health and the environment) and confirm the safety of the medium used.

If, despite careful decontamination, safety precautions are still required for substances containing toxic, explosive, or other health-hazardous materials, a safety data sheet (in German or English) must be enclosed with the shipment for each affected substance.

We offer the option of entering into an individual agreement with us for recurring shipments of products with the same media contact.

Please check the applicable option below (at least one of the options is required).

I hereby declare that, the affected shipment has not come into contact with any substances hazardous to health or the environment and that no special safety precautions are required.

the affected shipment must be handled in accordance with the enclosed safety data sheets.

the affected shipment is part of an individual agreement between Vermes and you as the customer.

If multiple media are mentioned in the agreement, please specify the substance in contact with the item by name:

Please understand that we can only perform our service, if all relevant information is available.

If safe handling cannot be ensured, or if, even after a quarantine period of 10 business days, insufficient information is available, we reserve the right to return contaminated goods to you for cleaning at your expense. The same applies to items whose level of contamination makes it impossible for us to perform our service (e.g., when the handling in a closed system is required) or where cleaning with our standard cleaning solutions (water, isopropanol, and acetone) was unsuccessful. Please also understand that we must unfortunately refuse to handle any products that have been in contact with microbiological or radioactive (hazardous) substances.
